Introducing the new Oticon Play PX

Experiences are important to your development

Growing up is a time for adventure and learning, and developing from your experiences. Without assistance, young people with hearing loss miss out on important details that are essential to development.

Access to the full sound scene

New Oticon Play PX is designed to offer you full access to all meaningful sounds, which is important to your development and needed to experience every magical moment of growing up.

Powered by a Deep Neural Network

To best support the brain, Oticon Play PX is powered by Polaris™, our most intelligent computer chip ever. It is also the world's first pediatric hearing aid with an on-board Deep Neural Network (DNN). The DNN was trained on 12 million real-life sound scenes and learned to recognize sounds through experience, like children's brains do naturally.

Get a winning start and unleash the magic of childhood.

Proven to help young people with hearing loss thrive

To continue to learn and grow, you must be able to understand and take part in the world. We tested the effect Oticon Play PX has on your ability to hear and follow what is being said and happening in typical everyday environments like classrooms and playgrounds.

The results showed that Oticon Play PX can help you to recognize and recall words, even when speech comes from multiple directions.* This allows you to participate freely in many different activities and situations, which are crucial to your continued development, growth and learning.

Better hearing, better learning

Did you know that you hear with your brain and not your ears? That is why it is important to give your brain the best quality sound. In fact, the brain needs access to the full sound scene to work properly.

But if you have a hearing loss, your brain needs to work harder to figure out what people are saying. You also miss out on important sound details that help your brain learn.

Oticon Play PX supports your brain by giving it more of what it needs to make better sense of sound.

At Oticon, we call this unique approach BrainHearing™.
