hearing aids, no matter how active you want to be

Keep your senses about you in more situations

Your sensory world becomes limited if you have to remove your hearing aids.

However, we all want to be aware and present in the moment. We especially want all our senses working when we are active and doing what we enjoy, whether running around a basketball court, hiking over hills, or blasting along muddy tracks on your mountain bike.

Forget your worries with SafeLine

With Oticon SafeLine™, you gain the confidence that your hearing aids won't be lost, fall off or become damaged, no matter how demanding the action gets. You can enjoy all the hearing support you're used to, and your hearing loss won't hold you back.

What's more, you won't need to keep reminding yourself to be careful with your hearing aids. With your worries forgotten, you can be more alert, more in the moment, and more able to lose yourself in your passions.

Keep wearing your hearing aids, no matter how active you want to be:

- Maintain access to sounds all day long
